Taghkanic Lookout

Renowned architect Toshiko Mori has designed a stunning modern home with expansive western views of the Hudson River Valley and the Catskills. Sited on a cliff between two large rock outcroppings, this 4 BR/4 BA dwelling is beautifully integrated with the surrounding landscape. The living and dining area is expansive with double-height glass walls facing west and south, wrapped by an exterior deck that is cantilevered over the rock's edge, erasing boundaries between interior and exterior. On the upper level, the bedrooms and baths face mostly east, with views of ferns and rock. The master suite has a glass wall which opens onto a rock garden with a Japanese soaking tub nestled into the cliffside. There is an exterior bridge that links the two high points of rock allowing easy access to an enormous view. There are three adjoining parcels, with approved building sites and mountain views, available. This property is private, but close to the Taconic State Parkway, Hudson and all the area has to offer. EXCLUSIVE.
